ONE DRAWING, EVERYWHERE, EVERY TIME

Laura's standing rule and the one-time check of her 159 Finished pieces · CARD-ODW (jumpr 3047) · LIVE in v30.51

YOUR RULE, KEPT FOR GOOD (in the team's memory and the house rules every session reads, with the check that proves it, `rig/`):

1. A piece ticked Finished on the character sheet: its finished drawing replaces the old one everywhere it shows: battles at every level, the fort and the rooms, parks and worlds, maps, the Log, cards, stores, shelves, pop-ups, and the sheet's own tiles in both views.
2. Buildings and world pieces: the autumn versions only in the Turkey Trot world; the plain version of the same drawing everywhere else.
3. Twins (a character and its treasure): finishing one finishes both, one drawing in both places.

THE CHECK: 159 pieces

56 are the Turkey Trot world of your card 3045 (ticked 16:47-16:48): that card put them in the game (v30.45), autumn in Turkey Trot and plain everywhere else (your rule 2); card 3048 put them on the sheet and 3049 the lobby (v30.49). The other 103 were each read through the doors the sheet itself uses, with every one of your redraws switched off and on, in all 67 places of the sheet's Screens list (every room, park, throne, the campaign, the fort, the Conga Room, the stores, the Log, the chest, the panels, the fights), in the game's memory, in every painter that could still call an old drawing, and in every baked picture. What they still showed old is below, piece by piece; 79 were already one drawing everywhere and 18 more everywhere but a phone that once crashed (the last lists).

FIXED: piece → places

THE BIG BANANA (T 015): the framed photo over the rocking chair

The photo was drawn from the old plush on 11/1, three days before your banana came in, and nothing re-pointed it.

BEFORE (the game before this card)

AFTER (her drawing)

THE BIG BANANA: the Medal Case's THE GIANT BANANA and THE GIANT SILVER BANANA

The two co-op medals drew the old plush on the medal's own spine. Now your banana at the old one's height and feet; the crown, the burst and the two little commanders stay the medal's; the silver one is your banana as a silver statuette.

BEFORE (the game before this card)

AFTER (her drawing)

074 THE TIN REX (and 075 SMALL DINO, the dino boss who wear his drawing): the level banner

The banner's portrait and the big entrance were pictures baked 10/4 from the old flat dinosaur. Baked again from his finished look, the way they were made.

COULD NOT SWAP, AND WHY

- HELD Your eighteen treasures on a phone that once crashed. An iPhone whose game page died once (yours and Layla's, 10/23) keeps a safety setting that draws the OLD train, robot, banana, sub, drum, kite, yo-yo, ducky (and the bath's ducky), ship, egg, two kennels, magic bone, bone fish, flashlight, silverfish and both plush croaks. The swap was built and proved, then measured on today's game: with your eighteen, the heaviest moment on that phone goes over what it played safely on 10/22, in every run (table at the end), so the safety setting stays until the game's heaviest moment comes back down. Everyone else sees yours. On your own phone you can say yes yourself: open the game in Safari with `?ltr=1` on the address; `?ltr=0` takes it back.
- ASK 124 OTTO = "the blue dragon come to life": he still wears the OLD dragon. His walking needs the dragon in parts (legs, wings, tail); your plush is one picture. Send Otto's parts, or say one picture and he walks as one piece.
- ASK 078 UNCLE REX and his plush treasure (T 079) are two drawings. You ticked the fierce one Finished on 11/4; the treasure is a plush OF him. One drawing for both needs your word and his poses (his roar, turn and tail, like King Croak's thirteen).
- ASK BG 011 THE DESERT COYOTE = 120 SCOUT (your word): Scout is drawn three ways today: the desert his plain mold, the Attic your style pass, every card, room and battle Al's finished look (the sheet's 120). Which one for all three? One line on your word.
- KEPT The Golden Book's Dino Park bookmark: a 7-pixel egg symbol (Wyatt's "just the egg symbol"), not the Hatchling itself. Your word and it takes your egg's shell.
- KEPT The Mission Board's scope pictures: the board's own glowing pictograms, not the pieces' drawings.
- LATER Dylan's films are footage of the day they were cut: THE SUNKEN SHIP (10/23) before the sharks' redraw, STRANGE MAGIC (10/21) before the bats'. A re-cut is a film card of its own.
- ASK The sheet's OLD view: with "Finished art: OLD" chosen, Finished tiles still show their old picture. Your cards 3052 and 3054 are in and did not change this. Your note says both views show the finished drawing, but that switch is the one you asked for on 10/22 ("an option to see all old or all new"), so it would stop doing anything for a Finished tile. Say which you want: a Finished tile shows its finished drawing in both views (the old one only in its NOW · BEFORE pop-up, and the switch goes), or the switch stays as it is.
- DONE The three To Do passes (the frog ladies): their drawings are in the game (checked); your card 3055 is in, so a Finished To Do leaves the sheet's list.

THE CRASH-SAFETY MEASURE

The iPhone's own engine (the Mac's system WebKit = iOS 26) at the iPhone 17's screen, Layla's 63-toy army with 13 of your 18 out, a phone that crashed, the full flow (title, bedroom, a fight, the bedroom again); MB of the game's page, three runs each, the 10/22 bar twice, all on the same Mac on 11/5. A lower number is safer. Nothing crashed in any run; the bar is what those phones played on 10/22 without a crash.
